2. The Lisen Precision Engineering Works (Zavody presneho strojirenstvi Lisen), National Enterprise, in Lisen, near Brno, is planning to add a middle-frequency heating installation for forging presses. [redacted] 25X1
 [redacted] The new projected installation is intended to combine two operations into one, i.e., the forging and hardening of die rings for ball bearings. The Lisen factory is the newest and reportedly largest producer of ball bearings in Czechoslovakia. 25X1
3. [redacted] the Zdar Machine Shops and Foundries (Zdarske Strojirny a Slivarny), National Enterprise, at Zdar nad Sazavou [redacted] 25X1
 [redacted] planned no further furnace installations in that plant, although one engineer was interested in stirring paddles (Ruehrspulen) for furnaces. 25X1
4. [redacted] 25X1
5. [redacted]
6. [redacted] the V.J. Lenin Works, National Enterprise, in Pilsen hoped that they could order another 4-ton or 6-ton furnace to replace a 10-ton furnace and a 6-ton furnace which are ready to fall to pieces. The request for the new furnace had not yet been submitted to Strojimport as of 1 February 1955. The Lenin Works are not using their three Siemens-Halske furnaces to full capacity. 25X1
